Civic Monitoring: Aim

Civic monitoring is a participatory process in which citizens actively engage in observing, evaluating, and providing feedback on public projects, services, or the use of public funds.

Local civil society partners of the territorial strategies were invited to participate in the civic monitoring of individual projects funded.

Goals:

- 1) To increase accountability of Cohesion Policy
- 2) Empower the final beneficiaries of the projects included in the Territorial Strategies (citizens and local stakeholders) by involving them in the implementation process.
- 3) Improve trust and mutual understanding between public authorities and non-public stakeholders in the Region by creating new opportunities for participation and collaborative dialogue.

Lessons learned so far

- First time local municipalities "open up" to civic monitoring: Marks a cultural shift towards more accountable policy implementation, emphasizing transparency and introducing new processes to include citizen feedback.
- Positive response from civil society partners, particularly where municipalities provided adequate communication. Civic monitoring activities are ongoing.
- Challenges:
 - Ensuring sustainable engagement of civil society and establishing lasting networks.
 - Securing involvement of political actors at the local level.
